At the end of each month the children were given a written test and the two children with the highest average were given a Thrift Stamp. Blanche Borchers having the highest average was given three stamps and Marie Kappes the next highest and was given two stamps and Mildred Thuestenberg earned 1 stamp. I thought this was a good way to encourage the children and they all worked hard. I also gave head marks and the one with the most marks would get a prize. It also proved successful in the Primer grades in Arithmetic. These prizes were given at the end of certain periods.
